

Bacardi Technology

Summer Intern Program

The Bacardi Technology Organization Summer Internship Program is designed to provide students with a meaningful real-life application of concepts and skills learned in their University.

As an intern, you will gain exposure to practical applications of various technology concepts, and you will be presented with the opportunity to develop, architect, observe and learn from an IT team working on innovative projects with global counterparts. You will also have the chance to learn the ways of working, nuances, and characteristics of a global company within the spirits industry.

The internship will be primarily remote, with the opportunity for in-person events depending on COVID-19 Protocols.
